Nashik boys become YouTube sensations with patriotic song

ANAND BORA
NASHIK, JAN 25

Two college-going Nashik boys Tejas Galphade and Sagar Kothawade have become YouTube sensations with their new patriotic song 'Aye Mere Tiranga', which was released on Wednesday, the eve of Republic Day.

Galphade and Kothawade are third-year students of Matoshri College and have a keen interest in music.

With Galphade's pleasant voice and Kothawade's soulful lyrics, the duo has attempted to invoke patriotism in youngsters. The music is by Tushar Joshi and Shankul Chavan.

The 5.22 minute song touches upon their support for Indian jawans and spreads a powerful message about respecting women. The duo plans to form their own band and perform across the state soon.
